

The diagram illustrates a T-shaped page layout. The top part is a horizontal bar with rounded ends, and the bottom part is a large circle. The entire shape is defined by a black outline. Inside, there are two concentric lines: a red line and a green line. The red line follows the outer edge of the T-shape, while the green line follows the inner edge of the T-shape. The text is located within the circular part of the T-shape, specifically between the red and green lines.
